CARMEL ATTORNEY HAS ANOTHER CASE PUBLISHED BY INDIANA COURT OF APPEALS

CARMEL, IN – FEBRUARY 14, 2008 – The Indiana Court of Appeals has published its opinion in the matter of Phillips v. Delks, 06A05-0612-CV-744 (Ind.Ct.App. 2008). Ryan H. Cassman, a partner with Hollingsworth Jocham & Zivitz, PC, represented the wife in the proceedings. The Court of Appeals upheld the trial court's contempt finding against husband and remanded the case for determination of damages and attorneys' fees for wife.

Mr. Cassman practices family law and civil litigation and earned his Juris Doctor from Indiana University School of Law – Indianapolis and his undergraduate degree from Indiana University, where he majored in psychology and kinesiology.

Mr. Cassman has extensive family law experience having represented clients for several years in all areas of matrimonial law, including dissolutions of marriage, custody, child support, paternity, post-dissolution matters and litigating contested adoptions. In addition to his family law practice, he has represented clients in a variety of litigation matters at the state and federal level, including premises and product liability, personal injury and coverage matters as well as contract disputes. He has also appealed cases to the Indiana Court of Appeals and the Indiana Supreme Court.

Mr. Cassman is a member of the Boone County, Hamilton County, Indianapolis, Indiana and American Bar Associations and their family law sections. He has consistently accepted pro bono and court appointed cases for clients who could otherwise not obtain legal services and regularly volunteers with Hamilton County Guardian Ad Litem program and the Heartland Pro Bono Project. Mr. Cassman also serves on the board of directors of Educational Services Company.

Hollingsworth Jocham & Zivitz, PC is a full-service family law team and offers a resolution-focused approach to serving families and individuals by combining effective client advocacy with patience, empathy and understanding.
